What have we been up to?

Music Production students have been developing their remixing techniques by selecting an original track, separating it into individual stems, and creatively reworking those elements to produce their own unique interpretations. Throughout the process, they have explored new approaches to arrangement, sound design, and mixing, allowing them to transform the source material into fully realised, original creations.

Recently in lessons we have been ...

Extended Diploma students have been hard at work preparing for their E Unit gigs, a project that requires them to take full responsibility for planning and delivering a live event. As part of the unit, students must form a band, develop a complete set list, secure an appropriate venue, promote the show through effective marketing, and ultimately take to the stage to perform.

Over the next few weeks, several of these student-led events will be taking place in venues across town, showcasing a wide range of styles, talents, and creative ideas. You are warmly invited to come along and support them—each gig represents a huge amount of dedication behind the scenes.

Full details, including dates, venues, and promotional materials, will be shared on our Instagram page @HuishMusic.
